An interesting announcement by United States Secretary of Agriculture Wickard appeared in the tennoon dailies Monday. The announcement had to do with lifting of certain restrictions on sugar.

At present there are about 28,000 acres of Everglades land under cultivation for the growth of sugar cane. Approximately 10 percent of this acreage is grown by independent farmers and the remainder is grown by the United States Sugar Corporation with offices in Cleveland.

Can you imagine what it would mean to this section of South Florida if restrictions were lifted and a sugar company was granted permission to grow more sugar? Hundreds of thousands of dollars, hundreds of thousands of payrolls. Hundreds of homes built to house the laborers.

Monday Morning

Will Be Ready For Use Next Week

The Canal Point School plant will be all-dressed up for the opening of the 1941-42 school term on Monday morning, when all young ladies and gentlemen of school age will register at 8:30 at the school.

The floors and all school furniture have been done over with floor sand. The inside of the school plant looks as bright as ever now. Workmen in the building expect to have their dressing-up job completed by Monday morning.

The lunchroom has been set up in the old auditorium and projects a very attractive and new paint, room cooking arrangements, new cabinets, electric refrigerator and a new stove.

The new auditorium-gymnasium is practically completed and ready for use next week.

The school plant is also equipped with a new central and automatic steam heating system. The workmen will finish the installation of this equipment by the next week. The boys and girls of Canal Point should not suffer this winter in the school from cold weather. This may be a disappointment to some boys and girls for it means that cold weather is a thing of the past now.

All pupils, registering Monday any time thereafter, will be furnished all pupils to be filled out and verified by the parent to show that the pupils have been in the county two weeks.

Several Businesses Plan To Register
Under Fictitious Name Law In Effect
Since July; Must Advertise Intent

Drainage Tax Remains At 1/2 Mill

Returning from Tallahassee Tuesday, County Tax Assessor James M. Owens, Jr., reported the Everglades Drainage District maintenance tax must remain in the one-half mill set by State Legislature in the opinion of Attorney General Tom Watson.

This opinion substantiates that expressed by other tax assessors in the district with the exception of J. N. Loomis, Dade County, Assessor Owens said. At a recent meeting here the Dade County assessor announced his belief that the millage should be reduced still further to meet the increase in values.

This half-mill was set in accordance with Governor Holland's recommendation. Business and Professional bondholders, based on the amount necessary to carry out the settlement. Mr. Owens explained, and it was not by the Legislature, it is not subject to reduction by county bodies, any more than the State gasoline tax could be reduced, he added.

Several businesses plan to register under fictitious name law in effect since July; must advertise intent.

Try This On Your Bank !!

Reading the Florida Times-Union the other day we came across an interesting story concerning a dear old lady and her bank account. It's an unusual piece of reading matter and we pass it on for your enjoyment. Here it is:

"Story comes in over the wires that is pure delight. These are few and far between in these grim and terrible days when so much space is taken up with tragedy and death and destruction, of man's inhumanity to man, of the struggles and agonies of the human race. A story of sheer delight was the story about that dear lady in a town in Pennsylvania, a town, we are sure, no one ever heard of before. The town was Coudersport. At any rate, the dear lady was shocked beyond words when her bank notified her that her account was overdrawn. She was shocked. Did she worry? Did she fret? Did she call for help? No, indeed! She did none of these things. She simply sat down and wrote the bank a note of apology and enclosed a check to cover the overdraft. The check was on the same bank, same account."

We Deem It A Wise Choice— Naming A. E. Kirchman Mayor

In Belle Glade it will be Mayor Kirchman for another two years. In the election held on Tuesday of this week he won reelection by an overwhelming majority over his opponents. One opponent received 144 votes and the other 6 votes while the young and progressive mayor was amassing a total of 342 votes.

Young Kirchman was running for reelection on the record he had established as mayor during the past two years and the vote he received is evidence that the citizens and voters of Belle Glade were in accord with that record.

Quiet and unassuming, Mayor Kirchman went about his duties as mayor during the past couple of years in a manner becoming a man of many years' political and municipal experience. The town under his leadership and with the wholehearted cooperation of the town council has made rapid strides of progressiveness. The accomplishments brought about as a result of the teamwork of the council and the mayor are too numerous to mention here. Those of us who live as neighbors to him in control of the town's destinies know that every word he says with one exception in view—making Belle Glade a bigger and better place in which to live.

So, it's Mayor "Slick" for another two years and this newspaper joins his thousands of friends in wishing him the best of luck in his second term in office.

Another Town Of Lake Okechobee Wants A Banking Institution

A lot of water has evaporated out of Lake Okechobee since the citizens of the Town of Okechobee have had a banking institution in operation there. Nevertheless those folks haven't stopped trying to secure such an institution. The Okechobee News has had a great deal to say about a bank for that town and only recently commented upon the fact that Belle Glade had been issued a charter for a bank. The Belle Glade bank will prosper under a charter granted by the federal government and will be a national bank. Comptroller J. M. Lee in Tallahassee issues charter for banks doing business under the state banking laws of Florida.

However, the newspaper in Okechobee in an interesting editorial last week suggests to the citizens to "Keep Trying," and no doubt, they will keep trying until they secure a banking institution. A part of the editorial is reprinted below:

"Because critical times make State Comptroller Lee feel the necessity of unusual caution in discussing new banks—and perhaps rightly so in view of the fact that it will be the people's money that will be lost in case another depression should start a wave of bank failures—no reason for Okechobee to forget its hopes to secure authority to organize a bank to serve our people.

"Nor does the opening of Belle Glade's new national bank have any bearing on the suit for the charter for this bank was granted by the national comptroller in Washington and the location is too far from Okechobee for that situation to have any effect on State Comptroller Lee's decision should times change for the better and open the way for him to act.

"We should be looking ahead. We should be helping get our county and community banks in order—financially and otherwise. Let's push ahead with our job of building a city here—making such progress that there will be no room for doubt the next time we ask the state comptroller for a bank charter.

Colonel Lee's caution doesn't apply only to Okechobee. We note that he has declined to authorize a bank at South Jacksonville at this particular time, citing the same reasons he gave for declining our charter and for refusing to authorize a state bank at Belle Glade either by local people or by the duPonts—both in the face of heavy political pressure which didn't buckle the comptroller in an inch.

JAMMING THE WORKS

Editor Carl Hanton of the Fort Myers News-Press, who is also a visitor of the Okechobee Flood Control district, was handed a new club with which to belabor the cross-state ship canal when congress included that project in the rivers and harbors bill.

He predicts the bill will be fought on that account and stands a good chance of being vetoed by the president should he be passed.

That would be a k. o. with Mr. Hanton but for one thing. Authorization for further improvement of the cross-state waterway between Stuart and Fort Myers is in the bill too.

It isn't a dog-in-the-manger attitude to oppose such a set-up," he contends. "In fact the shoe is on the other foot. By trying to include a project which would stand up by itself the ship canal promoters and their political backers are holding up a long list of unopposed and urgently needed waterway improvements all over Florida." Nor would the villainous aspects of the ship canal project disappear in the unlikely event of its approval by congress, the Fort Myers editor is convinced. By swallowing up a lion's share of the rivers and harbors money to which Florida is entitled the ship canal would leave little or nothing for other worthy projects, he argues.

All this might not be so serious if a ship canal across Florida could be justified from any standpoint. But a large number of Florida people are still unable to see it otherwise than a useless expenditure of public money. Fortunately congress has not yet been won over to any other view.—Palm Beach Post.

MILLAGE AND ASSESSMENT

J. M. Lee, state comptroller, got a good hearing as he told 100 lawyers from Polk, Hardee and Highlands counties here Monday night that he will refuse to accept any budget that does not show a reduction in millage in proportion to the increase in assessed valuation.

The comptroller already has rejected one county budget, and is hopeful that the first rejection will be ample warning to other counties. He is especially emphatic in his suggestion that county commissioners and school board members work cooperatively and that a courageous and continuous effort be made to collect delinquent taxes.

At present, the success of the 1941 tax laws depends upon courageous action and the public sense of responsibility, but the comptroller says he soon will see that get stronger legal backing for enforcement. It is his view that henceforth tax deeds will be valid and reliable instruments instead of questionable scraps of paper.

The 1941 laws were passed to provide a hardship on anyone," the comptroller said, "but just the reverse. They have been passed in order that each person shall pay his just and fair portion of the tax burden."

And there the comptroller touched upon the crux of the new laws. If the little taxpayer's bill begins to increase, he will kick out of the tax net and the rate will be revolutionary undertaking that is in progress calls for unanimous cooperation. Indications are now that the taxes of small home-owners will be slightly lower.

Most Floridians seem inclined to give the full assessment-roll millage plan a try, most of them assuming that almost any plan will bring better results than have been obtained during recent years.

More emphasis on the property is being placed on collection of delinquent taxes. A conscientious taxpayer becomes irked when he sees other property owners riding free.—Lakeland Ledger.

CUT COSTS SAVES LEE

Comptroller Lee at present is Florida's "traveling" official. He's been making trips up and down the state in the interest of the new tax program. As we see it, his trips have a double-barreled purpose.

First of all, his appearances before various audiences of citizens and officials have afforded an excellent opportunity to "sell" the program to the public. He has been given a "good press" with the result that few if any taxpayers fail to realize how the new tax laws will work. His meetings with officials also have given him a chance to emphasize his intention to enforce the laws fearlessly and without favor.

At his recent conference with Hillsborough County Commissioners and Budget Board members he stressed that point, saying that "before any budget or tax roll receives my approval, the millage must come down in proportion to the increase in the assessed valuation."

We also were impressed with his appeal to county officials for help in eliminating unnecessary expenses of government. He said: "Particularly at this time, when our country is engaged in a costly defense program, it behooves us to practice every economy and make every possible sacrifice. If our young men can give up their homes and jobs to save their country in the Army, certainly we can do without some of the frills at home.

Those same words ought to be recast in large letters and the whole thing framed for hanging on the wall of every conference held by every Florida public official. This is no time for frills and increased budgets in local governments.—Tampa Morning Tribune.

TOURISTS COMING

If information gathered from the editor's home town in Indiana is a sample of what is happening throughout the Middle West, Florida is headed for the greatest winter "since the boom."

From this one average northern county, the following movement toward Florida is listed: One family has sold its holdings and is located at Indian Rocks. Another has sold out and is settling near Orlando. The head of several tubercular hospitals in Ohio and Indiana has brought property in St. Petersburg. At least a dozen other families already are planning to spend the winter in various parts of Florida.

People of the Middle West can reach Florida in half the time, or less, en route to the Pacific coast. In the East there is even more balance of time and expense of travel in favor of Florida.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

While Fall does not officially set in until September 21, for most of us the summer is over when schools reopen and we experience the hustle and bustle that attends getting the kiddies up and off to their realm, winter and rhythm.

Driving to work this morning I encountered hundreds of bright-eyed youngsters of all ages making their way to the school house. They were clean, neatly dressed, smiling, happy kids.

Passing a Junior High I noted numerous cars lined up at the curb. Others were coming and going as parents brought their children and their neighbors' children to the school of learning.

Of course there was nothing new or startling about such sights. We have all seen the same thing many times. It was typically American. The question that framed itself in my mind today, however, was one never occurred to me before: "How much longer?"

I could not help but contrast the happy scene with that of other countries today. I could not help but ask myself: "How long will it be before dread and fear replace the happy smile on young faces, before gas masks become standard equipment?" "How long before the child will be instructed by wailing sirens and like baby chicks in the shadow of the hawk will these kids be rushed into the nearest bomb shelter?"

But a little over a year ago parents in peace loving Holland, Denmark and other countries sent their children off to school clean, neat and happy. Those were neutral countries. Though war raged all around them they felt that since they had not been asked to surrender or give up their neutrality, they had treated.

Today these nations are enslaved. Families have been separated. Hunger and want stalk through the land. Such schools are held in secret under the control and domination of a ruthless dictatorial. Education has become a farce. Propaganda and falsehood have become the text books to teach young minds to hate and fear their fellow man. Fear and terror have a double-barreled purpose. Death and despair have been added to the curriculum. Surrender has not helped them for now they become a hellish ground where the bombs and bullets of conqueror and defender are a menace day and night.

Parents of Dutch, Belgian, Norwegian and Danish children are not very different from American parents. They are kindly, hard working, peace loving folk. They were proud of their clean, progressive communities. They loved their homes and their children and asked only to be allowed to live in peace, to worship as they chose, and to educate their children to become good citizens.

Before destruction descended upon them, appraisers assured the regulars that it couldn't happen here. They continued to do business with Hitler and were careful to do nothing that might be termed an "unfriendly act."

United and alert, these small democratic nations together with the aid of their more powerful allies, might have defended themselves against aggression but in divinity they fell and their only hope of deliverance at this hour rests with the ability of patriots in lands still free to appreciate and understand what has happened and what can be done.

The children of America, young and mine, are no more secure to say than were the children of these and other conquered countries. What has happened there can and will happen here if we allow ourselves to be deceived and pulled into inactivity by those who believe appeasement.

The dictators HATE America above all other nations. We already have done more to stay their progress and hamper their plans than any other country. They have taught their children and their people to hate us and we will never be forgiven. Let Russia and Britain fall, and with our backs to the wall, we would feel the heavy hand of war as no nation ever has felt it. We would be crushed as no nation ever was crushed, and your children and mine would be the first to pay.

We can face the facts now, unite and thought and action to destroy our enemies and because we have resources, the wealth and the power, we will succeed. But if we hesitate, we remain reluctant, and his ourselves to sleep, we face destruction, and when our turn comes there will be no Delov later.

Purely Political

Congressman Lex Green of the second district announces for congress at large. His opponents are Representatives Ernest Overstreet, Miami, and Carl Gray of Panama City, and former State Senator Jesse Parrish of Titusville. Green's opponents are unlikely enough to imply that he is merely attempting to use the congress as a man-at-large to get a stepping stone to the Governorship. Naturally, that might turn every political gubernatorial aspirant against Green for congressman-at-large Charles E. Bennett, Duval County Representative, and State Senator Horne, Madison, are casting eyes at Green's job in the second district. Upon this neck-of-the-wild would that W. P. Allen, Bartow and Tallahassee attorney, will oppose the venerable jurist. Justice J. B. Wardfield, for election to the Supreme Court, has the politics and the lawyers' agenda. What field 30 years on the bench over 20 years of age, can you imagine on a pension of $925 a month.

Garments Are Completed

The Canal Point Unit of the Red Cross turned in its first finished garments for Bundles for Britain. Garments made were three suits of men's pajamas, three boys' shirts and eight baby wrappers.

Materials for other garments and yarn for knitting may be had from Mrs. J. H. Bordeaux. All ladies of the community are requested to help in this work.

SMEARING PEPPER

A "smear" campaign against Senator Pepper is being brewed by an eastern newspaper with an anti-British and isolationist leanings. Hard money is being spent to dig up anything against the Senator which can be found and distorted into propaganda that would discredit him. German agents still can employ citizens with good American names to do their dirty work in these United States.

THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION

September 17, 1941, will be the 154th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States of America. It should be a day of reverent and grateful rejoicing for every American who loves his country. Next to the Divine Decalogue and the Declaration of Independence, no document should be as dear to the people of America.

For One Hundred and Fifty-Four Years, the United States Constitution has given to countless millions of American citizens a full measure of freedom and liberty never enjoyed by the people of any other nation throughout all time. For a century and a half our Constitution has made a glorious and grateful reality of the truth proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence that "all men are entitled to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." For fifteen decades the great government that was formed and created by the Constitution has been in the truest and best sense a "government of the people, by the people, for the people."

At no time in this generation have the people of America had so much reason to feel grateful and glad for the privileges and rights which the United States Constitution gives and guarantees to the citizens of this nation. Never before has all that the Constitution stands for been in such grave danger of being lost from us. Never before has the way of life that the Constitution has preserved and protected so long been in such terrible peril. Never before has the freedom, the liberty, the equality, and the prosperity that the Constitution has made possible for America's millions been so threatened and challenged by the tyranny and terror of Godless dictatorship. The most brutal and bloodthirsty butcher that ever ravaged and ruined the earth actually threatens the independence and the sovereignty of the nation, as expressed in the U. S. Constitution.

At such a terrible time it is fitting and proper that all patriotic Americans should give devoted study to the great charter of our freedom, the Constitution, in order that all of us may be more resolutely determined to defend and preserve all that our Constitution and the great government of which it is the foundation and framework. According to the Constitution, the President is elected for one term and for the next week I am going to set forth some of the more essential and fundamental provisions of the Constitution that so profoundly and intimately affect our lives as a free people.

The portion of the Constitution known as the Bill of Rights and embraced in the first ten amendments to the U. S. Constitution, contains the guarantees of freedom and liberty that mean so much to every American. The first amendment contains the five indispensable rights of a free people. They are: (1) Freedom of religion; (2) Freedom of the Press; (3) Freedom of worship; (4) Freedom of assembly; and (5) the right to petition the government for redress of grievances or wrongs. No nation can long remain free without these rights. No dictator can gain absolute power so long as these rights are secure and inviolate. The first thing that every dictator has done upon his accession to power has been to ruthlessly crush and stamp out these five rights of a free people. Hitler could not last six months if he permitted his subjects to freely express their views of him and his cut-throat accomplices. If German newspapers were allowed freedom of expression, as they are in America, they could stir up a revolution in ninety days. If freedom of assembly were permitted in Germany, as it is in the United States, a million meetings could be held in a month and the people aroused to a fury against the brutal and barbaric excesses of Hitler and his sadistic henchmen. If the people of Germany were permitted to petition for redress of grievances, millions of mothers could protest against the senseless slaughter of their soldier-sons to gratify the power-hungry of a half-crazy ex-corporal. Next week, I am going to discuss those provisions of the U. S. Constitution which protect the person and property of Americans.

Cemetery Proves Interesting Spot

Safety Harbor, Sept. 11. When the editor of the "Sun Dial," publication of the Peninsula Telephone Company, was scouting around Pinellas County looking for something odd or unusual for his paper, he chanced to visit Sylvan Abbey cemetery, concerning which he gives us the following interesting paragraph: "Eloquent of those days long ago are markers in Sylvan Abbey cemetery, between Safety Harbor and Clearwater. There for more than eighty years have rested William Taylor and his wife Levis Taylor, who according to the marker were born in 1786 and 1788 respectively. Other inscriptions, too, carry the reader's thoughts back to our nation's infancy. Both William Taylor and his wife, who are buried at Sylvan Abbey, were born before Washington became our country's first president."

Unfortunately the ancient headstones do not reveal the reactions and experiences of these early residents of Florida which at that period had a larger Indian than white population.
